

Structural Dynamics in Semiconductor Nanocrystals probed by Time-resolved X-ray Diffraction

Aaron Lindenberg, UC Berkeley

We present initial time-resolved x-ray diffraction measurements probing optically-induced structural transitions in semiconductor nanocrystals and nanorods in a liquid jet. Rapid changes in the (110) diffraction ring are observed following excitation.